

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

JANESVILLE. BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

MERCHANT TAILORING.

W. C. HOLMES,
W. MILWAUKEE ST., - OPP. POST OFFICE,
Tailor and Draper; a Full Line of Fine
Cloths Always on Hand.
Will be made to order in the best of style, at the lowest possible prices. We do good work.

LIVERY STABLE.

N. FREDERICKS, Proprietor.
MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE
(Near the Davis House).
First Class Livery.
Particular Attention Paid to the Furnishing of Hearse and Carriages for Funerals.

COAL AND WOOD.

HOOBROOK & ATWOOD.
W. MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE.
DEALERS IN
Coal, Wood, Brick, Water Lime, Quick
Lime, Plastering, Lath and Sewer Pipe.

J. S. HOOBROOK, CHAS. ATWOOD
CARPENTER & GOWDEY.
OFFICE CORNER OF ACADEMY AND RACE
STREETS, JANESVILLE.
Near Milwaukee & St. Paul Freight Depot.
Before Buying Fuel Elsewhere, Call On
Carpenter & Gowdey, who will endeavor to give satisfaction in every respect.

BOOTS & SHOES.

MYHR & EVENSON,
N. MAIN ST., - - - - - JANESVILLE.
Boot & Shoe Makers.
Our own made Calf Boot $5. Can't be beat;
Fall line of Ready Made Work on hand; Our own make Kip Boot for $1.

C. MINER.

NO. 35 MAIN ST., - - - - - JANESVILLE
MANUFACTURER AND
Dealer in Boots & Shoes.
Constantly on hand, the Largest, Cheapest, and Best Selected Stock in Southern Wisconsin. Every one in want of anything in this line, are invited to call, and examine Goods and Prices.

TRULSON & PETERSON.

36 N. MAIN ST., - - - - - JANESVILLE
DEALERS IN
Boots, Shoes, and Rubbers for Fall and Winter Wear
From 35 to 50 per cent. Below Old Rates; of the Best Quality; their Custom Department is always well supplied; Repairing Neatly Done.

FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

JAMES CLARK & CO.
W. MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE
MANUFACTURERS OF
Choice Patent Grain, Extra Minnesota
Wheat Flour.
Back wheat Flour, Bran, Feed, &c. All Flour
Warranted to give satisfaction.

BARNES & HODSON.

W. MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE
MANUFACTURERS OF
Pearl White Patent, Hodson's Best,
From Old and New Minnesota Wheat. Delivery to all parts of the City.

PAINTING.

ROGERS & HUTCHINSON.
44 E. MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE.
House, Sign and Carriage Painting,
Paper-Hanging, Graining, Glazing, Etc.
Dealers in Paints, Oils, Varnish, Glass, Putty
Brushes, &c. All work done by them. We guarantee satisfaction. Country Orders promptly attended to.

WINE HOUSE.

L. WYLER, Proprietor.
MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE.
DEALER IN
Wine and Wholesale and Retail Agent for Best Milwaukee Bottled Beer.
Opposite the Myers House.

STONE MILLS.

NOTBOHM BROS. Proprietors.
Office at Corner of Franklin & West Milwaukee
Streets, Cor. Exchange.
Where is kept the following brands of flour:
Choice Patent Sun, Best Minnesota
Wheat Flour, and Milled Flour.
Made without the use of Mill Stone; also all kinds of feed; Good Flour exchanged for Good Wheat; Cash paid for Wheat.

DRUGGIST.

A. J. ROBERTS.
E. MILWAUKEE ST., - - - JANESVILLE
DEALER IN
All kinds of Drugs, Medicines, &c.,
Also, Bocher's German Syrup and Green's Augment Flower ways on hand.

LUMBER, WINDOWS & DOORS.

D. E. FIFIELD & BROS.
RIVER ST., - - - - - JANESVILLE
Pioneer Yard.
Dealers in Lumber, Windows, Doors, and all kinds of Building Materials used or kept for Building purposes at Very Low Prices.

To Justices of the Peace.

Blank for Justice's Return to County Board new and convenient form.
my 1000-11 GAZETTE PRINTING CO.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1879.

MILTON.

Our citizens were startled on the morning of the 9th ult., by the unexpected death of Mrs. Wm. B. Welles. The deceased had been in poor health for many years, but was able to sit up until the Friday previous to her death, at which time she was taken with a violent attack that failed to yield to her physician's aid. Mrs. Welles leaves a husband and three daughters, Mrs. Stewart, of Battie Creek, Michigan; Mrs. Hall, of Syracuse, New York; and Mrs. Adams, of Newport, Ark.; all of whom, together with other relatives, were in attendance at the funeral, which was postponed to enable those from a distance to get here. The funeral services took place at the Seventh Day Baptist church, on Thursday afternoon, Rev. E. M. Dunn officiating, and were largely attended by the friends and neighbors of the deceased. The remains were interred in the village cemetery. The bereaved husband and mourning daughters have the kindly sympathy of all in this hour of sorrow.

Crumb occupied his usual place in the south side drug store last week.

Do not forget to patronize the dramatic entertainment this evening. It will be very interesting.

Thomas Magner and wife left for Horrellsville, New York, Wednesday morning where they will reside in the future. Mrs. Magner did not like this country and prefers to live in New York State, consequently Mr. Magner sold out his interest in the Cross Spring Company.

D. C. Burdick slipped on the ice Tuesday evening and wrenched his knee badly. He "locomotored" by the aid of a cane for several days.

John S. Harvey and family left last Tuesday for their new home in Wausau, Wis.

All is not gold that glitters at the Seventh Day Baptist church this (Thursday) evening. Give the temperance folks a benefit.

Several tramps put in an appearance here last week, the first of the fraternity that we have noticed about town for several weeks. They were willing to saw wood for edibles, and in this respect differed from their predecessors.

The itinerant sewing machine agent is again at large in the land, and induces the poor man to make an unwise investment.

Messrs. Richardson and Fridell were on the sick list last week, but are able to be out again.

Hens' eggs are the most expensive fruit in market these days.

The Lima parties in the legal squabble were on hand in force last Wednesday. After a cool consultation among the interested parties they came to the most sensible conclusion that litigants can possibly arrive namely, to settle the matter without any more legal proceedings, therefore both suits were dropped. Mayor Norcross appeared for Henderson, and Mr. Bishop, of Whiteaker, for Mr. Richards. The times are too hard for people to engage in much litigation.

The south side druggist sells a bottle of perfume and an atomizer for a quarter.

The Seventh Day Baptist social convened at the residence of R. Williams last Wednesday evening and the attendance was quite large. The literary program consisted of five minute speeches by Prof. H. D. Maxson and Rev. E. M. Dunn; recitation by Miss C. E. Dunn; song by Miss Haven and Mr. Post. After these exercises an oyster supper was served to which all did ample justice.

Prof. Benson was in town last week talking about Nebraska lands.

Frank Howe is running the engine at Lane's mill these days.

Vincent Lane, of Deekertown, New Jersey, who has been boring the grinding at the steam mill for some months, returned to his Eastern home last week.

The year 1881 is to end all things, so the Adams say, therefore subscribe for the Weekly Gazette before it's everlastingly too late.

W. H. Greenman and sister, and the Misses Goodrich, went to Davis Junction, last Tuesday, to attend the wedding of Miss Alice Davis, daughter of Hon. Jeremiah Davis, of that place.

The Madison correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel speaking of the bill now before the Legislature, to cut down State officers' salaries, says: "The bill fixes the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction at $1,200. Traveling expenses, $1,500. It is needless to say that usually all the pay of this office is earned by hard work. Scholars are usually poor politicians, and honest men who do not expect something for nothing. This is true certainly of the present occupant of the office, President Whitford."

The second lecture of the College Lyceum course was delivered on the evening of the 6th inst., by Miss Ella Giles, of Madison, her subject being, "Some Mistakes of Ingersoll." The College Chapel was completely filled, despite the fact that the goodly number of our lecture-going people were kept away by other engagements.

The audience were called to order by Mr. M. J. Whitford, who introduced the lecturer. Miss Giles was simply and neatly attired in black, there being a noticeable absence of a tentatious display of furs and feathers, which some public speakers of the feminine gender consider absolutely necessary to success. She has a clear, pleasing voice, and is an easy, graceful speaker, holding the close attention of her hearers from alpha to omega. Miss Giles' preface to her lecture was somewhat remarkable, and to the religious revolution now in progress, and in her opinion the need of the age was not a religious but a scientific one. Ingersoll is the center of a system of infidelity, which destroys and creates nothing better, or as good, as that which it destroys. Infidelity she pronounced to be a gross error, but the Christian religion a true one, but she would not condemn all who rejected it. Infidelity was not a religion, but a calamity, in her judgment. Ingersoll a clear, independent thinker and a man of great natural and acquired ability, but no plummet line can sound the depth of his self complacency. Ingersoll's lack of reverence is carried so far as to be an unpardonable mistake. His impious denunciations of the Bible, a sacred and venerable book, of superior wisdom deserves criticism, and the day will come when he will see the folly of his course. Miss Giles' production was carefully written and her thoughts were clothed in beautiful language, some of her sentences being equal to any that Phillips or a Beecher ever wrote. Her lecture was eminently original in thought and very instructive, but her lack of oratorical ability in delivery makes it less interesting to many than it otherwise would be.

At no time for years has there been as much sickness in Milton as during the past month. A person would meet an acquaintance one day and the next morning would be informed that he was in the doctor's hands. Yet, there have been comparatively few fatal cases and most of the cases of illness have been throat and lung difficulties, which readily succumbed to treatment. These diseases seem to prevail in an epidemic form, and the end is not yet. We have attempted to cure cases in this household vicinity, but there have been so many as to make it impossible for us to do so. We hope no one will feel offended because their name has not appeared on our sick roster.

Lan's Koschong honey is the finest that the busy bee family ever manufactured.

The dairy business is not very promising, and cows are not selling at the figures that they did a year ago.

The shipments of live stock last week aggregated three car loads, Smith & Co. shipping two, Williams & Boden one. The hog market was active and higher, our buyers paying $3 to $3.25 for good hogs, but were unable to secure many at that price. Cattle are in good demand at low prices and Davidson & Co. are paying good figures for fat sheep.

Mrs. Clara and Jennie Dunn and Mr. Allen Dunn were all on the sick list last week and the former are not able to about the printing. They are not considered dangerously ill however.

A photograph was on exhibition at the chapel Friday, and at the Congregational church on Saturday evening. It was superior to the one previously exhibited here.

Mrs. Collins was dangerously ill last week, but is convalescent now.

Rev. E. M. Dunn occupied the Baptist pulpit at Edgerton last Sunday, in response to an invitation from the Edgerton people.

Do not forget that the drama "All that Glitters is not Gold" will be presented this (Thursday) evening at the S. D. B. Church. Admission twenty-five cents. Music by the Cornet Band. We hope that the church will be crowded.

Rev. A. L. P. Loomis delivered his lecture on "Florence and its Reformer, Savonarola" at the Congregational church, on Sunday evening. The lecture is highly commended by those who heard it, and we regret that circumstances prevented our being one of the favored listeners.

Roads are rough but good for the traveler's appetite.

Mr. J. W. Hopkins and wife, of Beloit, and Mr. G. A. Crossman and wife, of Afton, were in town last week visiting friends.

The lecture of Mrs. H. E. Servis on Sunday evening last was well attended and all expressed themselves well paid for the efforts put forth.

Mrs. Pember and her son Walter, of Janesville, were in town last Sunday.

The Free Baptist society of North Johnstown are at present without a pastor, the Rev. D. Powell having lately returned to his former home in Virginia.

Mrs. Garry is but little better than last week.

There is a great deal of sickness in town, chiefly of a pulmonary form.

The Lunch-Feud.

Cleveland Herald.

He was evidently a stranger, but he walked into a Superior street saloon yesterday morning and straight up to the lunch counter with the precision and assurance of an old habitue.

"Bowl of soup, please," remarked the stranger, suavely.

"Certainly, sir," said the gentlemanly and courteous waiter, but-tender, at the same time dipping out a generous bowlful.

The stranger fished around and scooped out all the solid contents, devouring them with much relish as he brought them up by ladling up the remainder and swallowing it with ostentatious enjoyment.

"He—ah! That's just about the thing; goes right to the spot. I'll trouble you for another bowl, if you please," said the suave stranger.

But the suave stranger had not yet mentioned the word "beer" and noticing this omission, the gentlemanly and accommodating bartender was beginning to grow suspicious. "I'm sorry, sir, but it's against our rules to serve more than a bowl to a customer."

"Oh, I must have another bowl of that soup. It's just the fit, and I don't mind paying 25 or 50 cents."

Of course that altered the case and the soup was promptly produced. And as promptly disposed of, as the stranger, during its consumption, being protuberant with all those little protuberances so expressive of gastronomic enjoyment. At the close he walked up to the bar, helped himself to a glass of water, and saying to the bartender, "I thank you very kindly—that wasn't soup it was nectar," walked out.

It was fully ten minutes before the bartender could find his speech, and then all he said was, "I'll bet a $5 note that rooster's from Chicago."

Olara Morris.

Personal Sketch in Dramatic News.

If there is one thing that puzzles me more than another, it is that certain people of brains and fine discrimination in regard to everything pertaining to high art, fail to appreciate Olara Morris. I admit that she is not "too sweet to live"—"too lovely for nothing"—or even "too nice." She is merely a great actress, that's all. Since Charlotte Cushman, she is the only genius the nineteenth century has furnished us. She certainly stands alone in the country; in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible to make up one's mind as to which is the greatest artist. Miss Morris' record is most phenomenal. For several years before accident gave her a New York opening, and while she was playing third rate parts in Western theaters, unknown and unrecognized, she was at the rate of forty knots an hour, in fact, she has climbed so much higher up the hill of fame than any other fellow artist, that she could hardly spy them out by the aid of a powerful field glass. As an emotional actress, she has but one rival in the world—Sara Bernhardt, who is her counterpart in everything rare and complex. They are both very slight, very sickly, very cunning, very original, and very emotional. As to their eccentricity—well the little boy just emerging from petticoats, who insisted upon putting his first pair of pants on over his head, is nowhere. The one pet cats and dogs—the other coffee. The one thinks of funny stories, and relates them with great gusto to every available listener at the rate of forty knots an hour; the other dabbles in clay, and writes lugubrious poems on death. The one acts to live; the other lives to act. The one is as nervous and bright as a silver leaved poplar; the other quiet and dark as a Lebanon pine. Neither are beautiful, but the souls of each shine out thro' faces that are wonderfully interesting, and at times strongly fascinating. It is just impossible

BRIEFLETS.

—Soft snow.
—February is mixing drinks.
—Fire alarms are few and far between.
—The doctors are doing a lively business.
—Choose your valentine, and make ready to celebrate the 14th.
—The most fashionable suits now are horse suits. So say the Justices.
—Mrs. Mattie Bridge will lecture at Court street church this evening.
—The safe blowers may now blow about being safe. No track of them yet.
—The militiamen are, known to-day by their limp. They drilled last night.
—Miss Nannie Royce went to Chicago this afternoon for a short time only.
—The Concordia society and its friends will face the music to-night—false face it though.
—No show of shows. None are booked now, and the Opera house remaineth in darkness.

—There's one advantage in not having water works. There are no lead-pipe thieves here.
—Justice Prichard is still at the horse suit. The evidence is all in and a decision is now on deck.
—E. B. Heimstreet has rented Mr. Robert's house, on East Milwaukee street, and will take possession thereof next week.

—Several Janesville ladies have gone to Madison to be present at the legislative hop, and the other social doings of the week.
—It was hard work for many to decide this morning whether to wear an umbrella or an ulster. The prudent man decided in favor of both.

—To-morrow night the Court Street Literary Society meet to listen and talk about Aaron Burr. An interesting program has been arranged.

—Clarence Steel, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, arrived in the city this morning and is greeting his old Janesville friends. He is looking as though Iowa kept him well.

—The Royal Arcanum meets to-morrow evening, and every member is earnestly requested not to forget the fact as business is, business, and there's plenty of it to do.

—Mr. A. J. Russell to-day showed us a sample of sugar which was produced from sugar cane. Careful analysis by experts shows that it contains ninety per cent pure sugar.

—The Mutual Improvement Club got up steam last night, and learned all about the model engine which was used to illustrate the subject. The session was one of unusual interest.

—Professor Severance's masquerade is to-morrow evening. It promises to be an unusually joyous, social time, and will be largely participated in by his pupils and their friends.

—I. G. Calkins, who has been connected with Bradner, Smith & Co., is now traveling for the J. W. Butler Paper Company, of Chicago. He is a first class salesman, and is pushing trade.

—Janesville City Lodge No. 90 convenes in regular session this evening at 7:30 for important work. This lodge is in a flourishing and healthy condition, and the order generally in this city is doing well.

—Sullivan, of Beloit, who has been locked up in jail for six months, for being an habitual drunkard was released this morning, his time being up. Now that he has got the whisky out of him, it is hoped he will keep it out.

—The Custer Rifles, of Whitewater, have arranged for a merry dance on the 14th inst. The militiamen of this city, have been invited to participate and will doubtless be represented on that occasion by a goodly sized delegation.

—Honors are easy. Nelson was fined $5 and costs for smashing in George Jay's window, and now Jay has been fined $5 and costs for smashing in Nelson's handsome countenance. The joy which Nelson felt was not all in his eye.

—A snow-clad ulster was what sheltered the man as he picked up a morning paper to-day and read as a first item "Spring-like." It is almost impossible to write correct weather items, as no man can tell what a day will bring forth.

—It appears that even those already in the employ of Uncle Sam cannot avoid a draft. Miss Peterson has just recorded sufficiently from her cold to be on duty again, and Dug King wears his neck in a flannel sling, with others yet to hear from.

—C. F. Randall & Co. in another column give a list of the canned goods which they have in store, ready for the demands of their customers. This bill of fare presents a large variety, and Randall & Co. promise to make the prices as cheap as the cheapest.

—There have been over thirty conversions at the revival meetings now in progress at the First Methodist church, and the interest is steadily increasing. Last Sunday night the house was literally packed, and the services last evening were largely attended.

—In the case of M. C. Smith & Son vs. R. W. Ellison, which was before Justice Balch yesterday, judgment has been given in favor of the plaintiff. The garnishee suit which was an outgrowth of the same transactions, was also decided in favor of Smith & Son.

—Horace McElroy, Esq., has been so badly shaken up by a cold that he deemed it imprudent to attempt to attend the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, which meets in Watertown today. W. T. Vankirk has gone in his stead as a delegate, and with A. W. Baldwin will represent the Janesville Knights.

—To-night the Concordia Singing Society give their eleventh annual masquerade at their hall. Great care has been taken to have all the arrangements such as to make this the "boss" ball masquerade. The annuals of this society have always been largely attended and have proved highly enjoyable, but to-night promises to eclipse all previous ones. If you want fun, if you want a merry dance, if you wish for sociability, if you want to shake off the blues, get a mask and join in the carnival to-night. All things are in readiness. Go in.

—An editor, who isn't well posted in the revival business, stepped into the First Methodist church the other evening, and heard the invitation extended for those desiring prayers to come forward to the altar. A half dozen penitents accepted the invitation and as is usual, a large number of the church workers also went to the altar and to the front seats. The editor was surprised to see so many going forward and in his innocence supposing that they were all repentant sinners, he hastened to chronicle in his note book the fact that about 175 went forward for prayers. The printer set it up 173, and the church folk the next day swarmed about his ears thinking that he was ridiculing their meetings by such an apparent accuracy of statistics. He has concluded to confine his talents to scoring for ball games, and writing up the horsemen's matinees on the ice, and has hired a man to attend to his religious column.

THE WEDDING BELLS.

TENNEY—LAWRENCE.

A matrimonial event of interest occurred to-day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Lawrence, it being the marriage of their daughter Miss Ella E. Lawrence to Mr. Henry A. Tenney. The ceremony was performed at 11 o'clock this morning by Rev. J. W. Sanderson, in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends. After the usual congratulations, a repast was partaken of, and the newly wedded ones departed on the afternoon train for Chicago. After remaining there a day or two they will proceed to their new home in Fremont, Nebraska, where Mr. Tenney is employed as manager of the shoe department of an extensive wholesale and retail store. Mr. Tenney was for two years travelling salesman for the Janesville shoe factory, and has many acquaintances here. The bride also is well known in the social circles of this city, and the best wishes of all will go with the happy pair as they start out on their life journey together. The wedding was quiet and unostentatious, but the congratulations and well wishes are by no means confined to those who participated as witnesses and guests. They will doubtless find in Fremont the cordial welcome they both so well merit, and all hope that their future will be so bright as to fully meet the present expectations.

FUNERAL OF MR. WOOD.

The funeral services of the late Joseph A. Wood were held this afternoon at the Trinity Episcopal church. Despite the storm a goodly number of sympathizing friends united in paying just tribute to the memory of their respected fellow-citizen. There were many of the older residents present with whom the deceased had been associated in business and social circles for years. The pall bearers were J. C. Metcalf, S. A. Hudson, E. G. Harlow, Hiram Bump, Hiram Merrill, and J. A. Blount. The remains were enclosed in a beautiful black cloth draped casket, with an emblem of the cross and crown, and a silver plate bearing the inscription: "Joseph A. Wood, Died Feb. 7, 1879 in his 79th year." The services were in accordance with the ritual of the Episcopal church, and were conducted by Rev. T. W. MacLain. The musical portions of the services were rendered by Mrs. St. John, Miss Hudson, Mrs. Church, Mr. Charles Church, Mr. Clarence Clark, with Mrs. King at the organ.

HAS NO PEER.

The Plankinton house, Milwaukee, under its able management, has become the favorite hotel of the Northwest, and all a person wants is to stop once at this famous hotel, and from that time on, he has been secured as a fast friend of the house. Col. Sherman has a way of making all his guests feel at home. First, he has every part of the house in perfect order; second, the table is superb, always laden with the best the market affords; third, the rooms are par excellence and the beds A. No. 1, and every part of the house is warm, and comfortable. In the office will be found his assistants, Messrs. White and Simpson, always courteous and ready to extend the friendly shake, and to attend to your wants in the best of order. This house for the traveler is rightly named "The Boss Hotel of the Northwest," and well deserves its title. The Colonel, not satisfied with having the boss hotel and the best stock farm and the finest stock, has now the fastest trotter on the avenue, in the shape of Normandy "Jackson," a fine bay gelding, which does not allow any of the fast nags to throw snow in his face.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY FREDRICK & EVENSEN, DRUGGISTS.

The indications for the upper lake region are: Areas of rain and snow, followed by colder, northerly and westerly winds, and rising barometer during the day.

The temperature at 1 o'clock a. m. was 39 degrees above zero; at 7 o'clock a. m. 34 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. 32 degrees above.

THE STATE FAIR.

To the Editor:

In your last evening's paper you stated something about the State Fair; and, as our people contributed so liberally toward it one year ago, it is right that they should know why it was not brought to this city. Last summer the Executive Committee offered it to me to locate according to a promise made me; but the Rock County Agricultural Society owning the grounds, I found it impossible to make any arrangements with them, at any price, to hold the State Fair in this city. I then arranged with Madison that if they subscribed liberally I would not oppose them for two years. They did subscribe three thousand ($3,000) dollars, and Dane county Supervisors subscribed one thousand (1,000) dollars, making four thousand dollars, enough to satisfy anybody. This money was spent but the subscribers complain that they have had no account of it, how it was expended, consequently were not willing to do much until they had an account. Still they did make an offer to me. The location of the fair was given to a committee of three, the President, the late Speaker and myself. It will be located on the 20th of this month, and if our people desire it, and can agree with the Rock county people respecting the grounds, they can have it. But the Dane County Society offers their grounds without price, therefore they have the advantage. The Rock County Agricultural Society also wishes to make a good county fair this year. I hope they may, and will be willing to arrange liberally respecting the grounds next year. If so, and I live, I have no doubt at all but that the State Fair will be held in the city of Janesville.

C. LOFTUS MARTIN.

LOCAL MATTERS.

KING'S BOOKSTORE, NEXT DOOR TO THE POSTOFFICE.

Chew Jackson's Best Sweet Navy Tobacco.

Be wise in time and get a bottle of Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, which always cures coughs and colds, and prevents consumption. Price only 25 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by A. J. Roberts.

Self-Rising Buckwheat Flour.

Buy James Clark & Co.'s Prepared Self-Rising Buckwheat Flour, ready for instant use. Buckwheat cakes can be made while you are making coffee. Cheapest flour in the market, and has no equal.

Books, Stationery, and Paper Hangings.

It is a credit to Janesville, that the old Pioneer Bookstore, east side the river, contains the largest and finest assortment of goods in the State. Money saved by making your purchases there. For good and cheap goods, call at J. Sutherland & Sons, No. 29, Main Street.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt for the cure, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

It Stopped the Cough!

From the Hon. James Ross, Grand Lecturer, I. O. G. T. Wis.

I take great pleasure in giving testimony to the efficacy of Hale's Cough Cordial in easily curing a persistent cough and catarrh. For a month while engaged nightly in public speaking, I had suffered with an annoying cough which stubbornly resisted the various cough remedies that I had taken. Through the advice of friends I fortunately gave Hale's Cough Cordial a trial, when my coughing ceased at once, and the following day it had done its work completely and I felt all right. The first dose went directly to the cold spot in my lungs, and in the midst of a general warmth and perspiration the stubborn cough seemed to dissolve. In gratitude and esteem, I am, Yours truly, JAMES ROSS.

Vilas House.

NOTICE is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that in view of the condition of public affairs, the price of the rooms to the guests in the VILAS HOUSE will be as follows:

On the first floor per day.....$3.00
On the second floor.....2.50
On the third floor.....2.00
On the fourth floor.....1.50
All rooms above the fourth floor.....Free
Mrs. A. W. Waterman is continued as matron and housekeeper of the establishment, and cannot be excelled in her department by any lady in America.

The location of the House and its recent improvements.

excels any other in the beautiful city of Madison. The table will continue as it has been in the past, the best in the northwest. For further particulars, ladies and gentlemen, call and see for yourselves.

J. VAN ETTA, Proprietor.

Madison, Nov. 1st, 1878.

CITY NOTICES.

Consumption Lurks in Every Cough.

Every home should be supplied with "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry." It imbues the blood with its life-giving principle, and repairs the wasting tissues and imparts health to the various organs. Thousands have been restored to perfect health after having been given up to die by physicians and friends. We have seen the fading and consumptive stricken youth renew his life under its benign action. We have seen the middle-aged, the old and enfeebled restored to comfortable health. Therefore if you have a cold, distressing cough, any throat, breast or lung trouble, use promptly "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry." It is equally valuable in Asthmatic and Bronchial affections. Trial bottle 25 cents. Large size $1, or six bottles $5. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Sold by all leading druggists.

A Medicine Chest for 25 Cents.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a good cathartic. SWAYNE'S TAR AND SARSAPARILLA PILLS are prepared expressly to meet this necessity; being composed of purely vegetable ingredients, of which Podo-phylla or Mandrake, Pine Tree Tar, Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock and other concentrated juices enter largely into their composition; the whole strength of which is extracted on an entirely new principle. They are mild in their operation, produce no griping, and are truly a valuable purgative aperient, anti-bilious and cathartic medicine. They stimulate the liver to healthy action, cleanse the stomach and bowels of all impurities. Curing sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia or indigestion, biliousness, intermittent, remittent and congestive fevers, languor, drowsiness, aching pains in the back, head, eight chills, with flushes of heat, female irregularities, and for a bilious and costive habit, no medicine is so prompt and effectual as Dr. SWAYNE'S TAR AND SARSAPARILLA PILLS. If your druggist or storekeeper has not got them, or will not procure them for you, we will forward them by mail on receipt of price, (in currency or postage stamps), 25 cents a box, or five boxes for $1. Address letters, Dr. Swayne & Son, No. 30 North Sixth street, Philadelphia.

FARMS AND HOMES!

MINNESOTA FARMING LANDS AND DAKOTA

Over 1,000,000 Acres for Sale by the WINONA & ST. PETER R.R. CO.

At from $2 to $6 per Acre, and on liberal terms. These lands lie in the great Wheat belt of the Northwest, and are equally well adapted to the growth of other grain, vegetables, etc. The climate is unsurpassed for healthfulness.

THEY ARE FREE FROM INCUMBRANCE.

Purchasers of 160 acres will be allowed the FULL amount of their fare over the C. & N. W. and W. & St. P. Railways.

Circulars, Maps, etc., containing FULL INFORMATION sent FREE.

H. M. Burchard, Land Agent, Winona, Minn.

Chas. E. Simmons, Land Commissioner, Gen'l Office C. & N. W. R'y Co., Chicago, Ill.

Wanted

A BLIND HORSE!

That will work in a Tread Power; to weigh from 1200 to 1400 pounds.

HOOGBOM & ATWOOD, City Coal Yard.

COMMERCIAL.

JANESVILLE MARKET.

REPORTED FOR THE GAZETTE BY RUMP & GRAY GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, February 5
Receipts of grain were fair to-day, and the market ruled firm at the following quotations:

Flour—Patent $1.60 per sack; winter, $1.25; Minnesota, $1.25 per sack; Wisconsin, 90c per sack. St. Louis winter, $1.40 per sack.
BUCKWHEAT—Dull, at 30¢40 cents, per 53 lbs.

RYE—Flour—$1.50 per 100 lbs.

WHEAT—Good to best milling spring 55¢55c; winter 50¢50c; best milling grades 45¢55c.

Buckwheat flour 60c per sack.
Beans—dull at 60¢1.00 per bushel.
Wheat Bran—50c per 100; $8.00 per ton; Buckwheat bran 25c per 100 lbs; per ton $5.00.

Meal—coarse, 6c per 100; bolted $1.00 per 100 FEED—60c per 100 lbs.

MEAL—Dull, at 30¢40 cents, per 53 lbs.

RYE—In good request at 39¢35c.

Barley—wanted at 40¢50c for good to best samples, per 50 lbs, and for common to fair quality at 35¢35c.

Corn—shelled per 60 lbs, 22¢24c; ear 22¢23c for 75 lbs.

Oats—good local and shipping demand, white at 19¢18c; mixed 17¢18 cents.

Ground Feed—60c per 100 lbs. Ton $11.

Timothy Seed—fair demand at $3.00$3.50 per bushel.

Potatoes—Peach blows, 55¢60c per bushel, other varieties 45¢50c.

Butter—Choice, 10¢14c; good supply, at 10¢14c.

Eggs—good demand at 17¢16c per doz.

HAMS—Green, 6¢; salted 5¢10c; Dry, 12¢14c.

Wool ranges at 25¢28c; ¼ off for unwashed.

SHARP PATRONS—Hange at 40¢$1 each.

Dressed Hogs—range at 34¢35c per 100 lbs for light and heavy.

Live Stock—Cattle $3.00$3.75 per 100 lbs; Hogs 30¢33¢ per 100 lbs.

Poultry—Turkeys 7¢8c; Chickens 5¢6c.

MILWAUKEE GRAIN MARKET.

MILWAUKEE, February 10

Flour—Inactive.

Wheat—Market strong; opened ¼ cent higher; and closed firm; No 1 Milwaukee hard, 88¢ cents; No 1 Milwaukee, 90¢ cents; No 2 Milwaukee, 88¢ cents; February, 8½ cents; March, 8½ cents; April 9½ cents; May 9½ cents; No 3 Milwaukee, at 74¢ cents; and No 4 Milwaukee, at 67¢ cents; and rejected at 57¢ cents.

CORN—No 2 39½c.

OATS—No 2 20c.

RYE—No 2 24c.

BARLEY—No 2 spring cash, 70c; March 70 cents; February 74 cents.

PORK—mess cash new, $10.10.

DRESSED HOGS—$4.25$4.30.

LARD—prime steam $5.50.

CATTLE—Hange at 4.00 to 4.50, according to quality and grade.

LIVE HOGS—3.50$3.75.

SHEEP—Range at 3.50 to 4.00 according to condition and weight.

SEEDS—Timothy 1.05$1.15; flax 1.20; clover 3.80.

BEANS—1.10$1.20.

BUTTER—Hange from 14¢17c.

EGGS—12c fresh.

CHEESE—9c.

HONEY—For comb, 15c; for strained, 10¢13c for dark.

WOOL—Washed 27¢30c; unwashed 18¢21c.

TALLOW—5¢46c.

HOPS—New, 12¢10c, old 6c.

Chicago Market.

Special to the Gazette.

Chicago, Feb. 11

WHEAT—No 2 spring wheat, cash, 88½ cents; March at 89½ cents; April at 90½ cents; No 3, spring wheat, cash, at 73½ cents.

CORN—No 2 cash, 31½ cents; March, at 33 cents; April 32½ cents.

BARLEY—Extra No 3 cash, 43¢46 cents.

PORK—cash new, $9.70$9.95.

LARD—cash, $5.50$5.75.

LIVE HOGS—$4.25$4.30 according to grade.

DRESSED HOGS—$4.35.

WHISKY—1.04.

HOPS—9¢11¢50c.

HONEY—Good choice new comb in boxes are 13¢15 cents.

BEESWAX—25¢30c 18¢30c per lb., according to quality.

SUGAR—Granulated, 9½¢9½ cents; Standard A 7¢9 cents.

CHEESE—5¢8¢ 6¢7¢ according to quality.

EGGS—Fresh 14c.

BUTTER—9¢10¢ 16¢20c according to quality; choice, 27¢30c.

POULTRY—turkeys dressed, 9¢10¢; alive, 6¢; chickens alive, at 1.75$2.25 per dozen, and dressed at 8¢9c.

BEANS—Good mediums $1.25$1.35 per bushel and sayas 1.35$1.45.

BROOM CORN—1.24¢ 3¢4¢, according to quality.

FEATHERS—Prime live geese, 38¢30c; live duck, 24¢33c.

TALLOW—6¢7¢ 6¢10c No 1.

WOOL—Washed 27¢30c; unwashed 18¢18c; tub washed, fair to good, 30¢35c.

NEW YORK GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET.

NEW YORK, February 10

Flour—more doing in trade brands at old rates superfluous at $3.30$3.50; patents at 50¢; western winter, at $4.50$4.75.

Wheat—holders took advantage of a better shipping demand to put up prices of options of winter, which in turn affected spring, resulting in a fair trade for export, chiefly in spring and No 2 red, closing strong; Milwaukee No. 2 at $1.04.

COTTON—9.10$9.20 11-16c.

OATS—30c western.

RYE—western, 57¢61c.

BARLEY—$2.75.

PORK—mess new, $10.75.

LARD—$7.07½.

HAY—Shipping 40¢45c.

CORN MEAL—2.40$2.75.

WHISKY—1.07.

SUGAR—firm but quiet; refining 6¢6½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans 25¢33c.

PETROLEUM—84¢89 crude; refined 9¢c.

LEATHER—19¢21c.

ROSIN—1.40$1.41.

WOOL—domestic; fleece 27¢40; pulled 17¢26.

Texas 13¢23; unwashed 10¢25.

COFFEE—Rio 10½¢15½ gold; jobbing 10½ in gold.

TALLOW—Firm; 6¢c.

CHEESE—22¢c.